

A photograph of a paved path that splits into two directions, leading into a dense forest of tall, thin trees with vibrant green foliage. The path is made of light-colored asphalt or concrete. The forest floor is covered with green grass and patches of brown mulch or fallen leaves. The lighting is soft, suggesting a slightly overcast day or a shaded area within the forest.

The
inevitable part of every journey.

SHURGARD[®]
SELF-STORAGE