GLOBAL MARKET UPDATES

In the age of global business, markets are always open somewhere. 123Jump begins its daily coverage at the opening in Asia markets, continues to Europe, and then to North and South America. The company's objective is to give investors a global view of financial market events. In an interconnected world, events in one region can impact investors around the globe. With hourly updates, 123Jump keeps investors informed of local financial news and its impact on world markets, covering the Americas, Asia, and Europe.

EARNINGS CALL SUMMARIES

Every quarter more than 3,000 companies release earnings and conduct earnings calls. 123Jump listens into more than 500 earnings calls each quarter and prepares summary reports, collects financial statistics, and presents the information in an easy to read format. The site currently offers more than 2,200 reports with more than 500 reports added each quarter.

Some vendors sell company earnings transcripts for $75. On 123jump.com, detailed reports are available FREE. They provide a summary of the latest company earnings data, management discussion, and the investors Q&A. Earnings call archives are available from 2004.

COMPANY EARNINGS DATABASE

Stock market investing decisions require a reliable and comprehensive understanding of earnings. 123Jump has created a history of 3,500 companies' quarterly and annual earnings dating back to 1995. Quarterly earnings on most sites are not adjusted for stock options and for earnings restatements.

Yahoo Finance and MSN Money have less than 2,900 companies' quarterly earnings for the last four quarters only. Several of these earnings do not reflect accurate GAAP earnings or restated earnings. Our staff spends a lot of time and effort in collecting and reviewing earnings data on an on-going basis without relying on external sources for the earnings database.

We prepare and review corporate earnings to build our own data base and we do not work with third parties. 123jump.com views reliability, accuracy and consistency of this database as central to our editorial mission.

IPO CENTER

Initial Public Offerings are hard to research and even harder to invest in. Our IPO center covers IPO news, offering calendar, IPO ratings, sector screens and company profiles. Our collection of 3,000 profiles, dating back to 1995, is the largest IPO profile database on the internet and viewed by most investors as the authority in IPO investing. Our annual IPO performance tables dates back to 2000.

Every week 123jump.com rates companies that are likely to be priced. Our comprehensive rating system ranks companies for their financial health, investor sentiment and performance of other companies in the sector in the after-market. Our rating system also considers company strategy and management strength and business growth plans.

123jump.com has been ranking IPOs since 1999 and prior to that as IPO Maven since 1993.

MUTUAL FUNDS Q&A

Mutual fund investors like to hear more from their money managers to understand what is happening to their investments. Every year we select managers and funds for their consistency in return, investment performance and investment strategy.

Our interview process is designed to help investors understand fund investment philosophy, investment strategy, research process, portfolio construction and risk control measures.

There are more than 6,000 mutual funds and thousands more separately managed accounts in the U.S. Every year, our research staff selects 100 of these funds and interviews their managers to learn more about their investment style and process. 123jump.com has the largest collection of fund manager interviews available for FREE on the Internet.

ECONOMIC DATA AND RELEASES

Every week different government departments and agencies report economic releases. The site maintains a detailed calendar of these releases and collects all press releases from a number of departments and private sector industry groups. 123jump.com has the largest collection of these releases dating back to 2004, totaling more than 600 releases organized chronologically from the following departments: Commerce, Labor, Energy, and the Federal Reserve Bank. In 2007 we expanded our coverage to include releases from Japan, Australia, India, Hong Kong, China, UK, and EU.

Our editorial staff works with the art department to prepare simple to understand layouts and graphics for the economic data. The staff also maintains a list of economic indicators in graphical format.

The Dow Chemical Company Fourth Quarter Earnings Call

Income was $472 million or 49 cents a share, down 52% from $975 million or $1 a share in 2006 due to restructuring activities.

The diversified chemical company reported a 14% increase in sales to $14.3 billion from $12.4 billion in the prior year due to higher prices and volume growth during the period. The entire organization continues to work with speed to improve an unprecedented run-up in feedstock and energy costs, raising prices to mitigate much of the $1.7 billion year-over-year increase.

G7 Meeting: Slower Growth, $400 B Subprime Loss

G7 nations' finance ministers urged China to strengthen its currency in the view of the rising current account surplus and domestic inflation.

The world economy is likely to slow in the short term and financial markets will experience prolonged turbulence, according to a statement released by G7. The formal document takes a considerably gloomier view of the world economy from the last meeting in October but offers no remedies for the current malaise. The meeting of ministers also failed to announce any coordinated measures. The ministers agreed that sub-prime losses may reach $400 billion, ten times more than the last estimate.
